

Divine Panarchy

Gordon Herbert

Can humanity influence divine energies? This question was put to me about what could happen if a galactic superwave hit Earth. We had been discussing the potential for one of these immense waves of cosmic rays, particles and gravity to cause great disasters on our planet.¹ The question referred to a number of prophecies that the worse of any such impact could be averted by people praying and meditating, being loving and kind to each other and to all creation² (and therefore loving God). It opened up consideration of the vast and interactive life, energies and beings that comprise our celestial structures, and especially our galaxy. It meant looking at the divine ecology and awareness of all beings and life in our galaxy, called “divine panarchy” after Earth’s ecological panarchy cycles.³ It meant knowing the powers of our inherent unity with God.

Earth Panarchy

Panarchy details the process where biological ecosystems go through cycles of growth, collapse, regeneration and growth again, at various geographic and time scales. The cycles are nested and overlap, having a mutual interaction between the larger and slower moving and the smaller and quicker cycles. A similar process can be seen in economies and civilizations, including human psychologies and cultures. The growth phase is one of rapid expansion of participants (e.g. species, people, ideas, resources), energy use, exchange, and connectivity. Within the constraints of the system it increasingly organises into efficiency patterns that exclude non-efficient players. Consequently, diversity and resilience decrease as the dominant efficiencies and specialisations increase, making a system brittle and vulnerable to collapse from unexpected shock. In an ecosystem this shock can be external, from drought, fire, flood, people etc, and in a human economy or civilization it can be either external, and/or internal such as from the cumulative effects of inadequate information, limited ideology, rampant greed and poor management. The more the system is interconnected, the faster its potential collapse. In today’s global economy and ecology the rate of this interconnection has increased rapidly. The connections between human subsystems (economy, politics, culture, technology, education, etc.) and global life support systems have become critical. The potential for rapid global collapse has consequently increased.

Collapse is a period of chaos and confusion that forces adaptation to a new cycle of growth and a new structure. In biology this could be an expanding genus of exotic species following the devastation of ecosystem collapse. In human development it could be a new start by a band of survivors following cataclysmic destruction of the old civilisation. What the panarchy ecology illustrates on a global scale is the traumatic process that a superwave shock could cause in moving Earth to a new level of civilisation with a broader reach and greater capacity.⁴ A lesser but still traumatic collapse could occur if global economic and ecological cycles were to fail due to human mismanagement.

Our Interaction

We now know ourselves to be part of the esoteric and physical life of our vast being, the galaxy, as its energies work through the bodies and beings of Sun and Earth. Our science is becoming aware of the physical effects of living within this vast being, and we have evidence of psychological and spiritual effects.⁵ Before assessing how we may interact within that in which we live and move and have our being, the following intuitive message sets the scene:

“We are part of the mind of God with all of God’s skills and actions, only less so, but with positive effect. The life of God is infinite and the life of man is also infinite, but with many cycles and periods of existence, in many realms. You ask how man can influence a larger cycle, of energy and of consciousness. Well, can a bacterium influence the life of man? The “bigger” and “more powerful” is not always the one who holds sway. The life of a god can be influenced by the role and actions of man, making him sneeze, or helping with the harmony of the body. This example is at the biological level that you can understand, yet the principle applies in all dimensions. When will you (we) learn to cooperate and to use your divine qualities for the better, for the good of all? Then the divine will respond with a love that is so immense as to be beyond your comprehension or experience. That love will lift you to immense heights of love and compassion, of wisdom and of divine creativity and joy. You will learn when you learn the small tasks of your world, to help one another, to love God (who is all), to love yourselves. Then the gate will slowly open and the light that is love will stream in.”

“Yes you can influence the consequences of a galactic superwave, for better or worse from your perspective. But it will always seek to lift you, gently, if you let it. The cruder frequencies are of the babes growing, and need like frequencies to assist them. So they will live elsewhere. Those with a measure of light and goodwill will be helped over the threshold to a new life and a new world. We are all one body and one heart and one mind, wherever and whenever we are, for we are all God and a part of God and the life of God, forever. So know you can evolve, and influence your evolution, and bring joy to the heart of God, who is us all, now and forever. I respond to your vibration, and you respond to mine. Do not be afraid of potential calamities, for all life is one, and you are learning in a very difficult school of life, that I have chosen for you and that you have agreed to participate in. All is well, for the father would ever look after his children. I am love, as are you and we evolve together, as one, helping each other in our profound oneness. Live your life in joy, in the small things and the large, for to do so is to remember who you truly are. The rest follows.”

That we are an interactive awareness within a larger divine life is witnessed by many holy, esoteric and channelled sources, and is even hinted at by modern science. In Genesis ch 19 the Lord told Abraham that He would not destroy Sodom and Gomorrah if there were 50 righteous people there. Then in response to questioning He reduced this figure to 45, then 40, 30, 20 and finally 10. As 10 could not be found, the cities were destroyed. Even a small amount of goodness can, according to this example, turn away the “wrath of God”. The Bible is replete with statements like Hosea 4:9 “I will punish them for their ways, and reward them for their doings”. They indicate divine response to human qualities that affects physical lives for better or worse (as seen by us). The book of Revelation is about the entire co-evolution of humanity and the Holiness that we are a part of.⁶ It details in deep symbolism the interaction between God and mankind, including the divine plan and the “reaction” of God to human behaviour.

Organised religion has often strayed from the path of true spirituality. A definition in accord with true spirituality is given by the Tibetan as:

“Religion is the name given to the invocative appeal of humanity and the evocative response of the greater Life to that cry”.⁷

This summarises the “interdependence of a planned and arranged conscious linking and of the transmission of energy from one aspect of divine manifestation to another – from God in the ‘secret place of the Most High’ to the humblest human being”.⁸

Apart from the prophecies at Annex 1, other esoteric sources indicate our ability to manipulate nature. The Tibetan Master says “The separative and maleficent thoughts of man are largely responsible for the savage nature of wild beasts, and the destructive quality of some of nature’s processes, including certain phenomena, such as plague and famine”. And “Man ...consciously or unconsciously, recapitulates the logoc process, and becomes a creator, working in substance through the factor of his positive energy. He wills, he thinks, he speaks, and thought forms eventuate. Atomic substance is attracted to the enunciator. The tiny lives which compose that substance are forced (through the energy of the thinker), into forms, which are themselves active, vitalised and powerful. What man builds is either a beneficent or a maleficent creation according to the underlying desire, motive or purpose”.⁹ The Law of Attraction then ensures that we draw to ourselves greater energies harmonic to that which we create.

Consequent Separation

An important principle is that if powerful extra-terrestrial energies influence Earth, they will enhance the four higher subplanes of a plane and destroy much of the content of the three lower subplanes, leading to cataclysms.¹⁰ From a chakra perspective, this means that the qualities and manifestations of the lower three chakras (Base, Sacral and Solar Plexus)¹¹ would be transformed through their “destruction”. The qualities and manifestations of the four higher chakras (Heart, Throat, Brow and Crown) would be enhanced. People who live predominantly at any one of these chakra levels would be affected correspondingly.

This may be an aspect of the “Sheep & Goats” separation effect, where the immature seed (or generic unit) is reduced in productivity and that of the mature seed is enhanced when subject to powerful energy.¹² It indicates reciprocal resonance for the higher levels of development and dissonance for the lower levels. As consciousness, love and aspiration are part of the higher chakra levels in people, then here is a way to influence the nature of the impact of extra-terrestrial energies. Their and our higher frequencies will resonate harmonically, creating the Biblical mechanism: “For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath.” (Matthew 13:12).

Our Mind of God

In case there is still some doubt about the direct influence of the human mind or soul on matter, the following may help. It was received intuitively many years ago in response to a query about Eve and the Garden of Eden, and is a universal principle.

The Apple of Good and Evil:

“The stimulation of the heart of matter creates the dual energies of abundance. These are yin and yang created from unity. The energy is one of de-cloaking, releasing the “glue” of their unity through human soul focus. Matter responds to soul energy and releases its capabilities. These are the energies you are aware of, but contain also the mind of God energies, folded into matter, in the manner suggested by superstring theory.”

“It responds to the energy of the human mind, which triggers its unfoldment. This happens within us as the unfolding or uncoiling of the serpent Kundalini, and it happens outside us as mass soul/mind stimulates matter to reveal its secrets. The secrets are the key to the mind of God, for our discovery, and we unlock the secrets by our use of mind. The polarity of matter is as the yang and yin of existence: energy and knowledge.”

“Hence the biting of the apple is the application of soul energy to the base chakra, to release its serpent, and to release the knowledge of good and evil, or of duality in human development. Do not ask how, as it is beyond your understanding.”

The preceding information emphasises the range of consciousness and substance (epitomised by the chakra levels) in dealing with extraordinary energies such as a galactic superwave. It draws attention to harmonic correspondence between levels for human, planet, solar system and galaxy, and to the higher levels having more power over the lower levels. The “mind of God” energies and consciousness are at play everywhere, in our unity and consequent influence. The separation effect is a normal phenomenon, seen every day in humanity as people shed their three lower sheaths (physical, emotional and lower mental) when they “die”. The old is relinquished when it has served its purpose, and after a period in other realms our higher principles create three new lower sheaths in birth and a new incarnation. The same happens for root races, civilisations and eons of life on Earth and elsewhere. We control the process through our higher dimensions, yet in cooperation with the vaster Lives of which we are a part. The degree to which we do this consciously depends on how far we have ascended to the Heart and beyond. This integration with the larger cycles of Lives is the essence of the divine form of panarchy.

Archetypal Progression

The panarchy cycle is a universal archetype that operates in all dimensions in our universe. This means that the growth, crystallisation, collapse and regeneration process takes place in the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual realms. As a mechanism of evolution, this sequentially follows the chakra progression of human development. It means that when most people are at the lower levels of awareness, the panarchy operates mainly at the physical and emotional levels. As we develop, our awareness becomes more inclusive and therefore we incorporate more “spiritual” aspects into the cycle. This enables us to control more of the components of the cycle and its consequent results. It is not until a significant number of people operate at the Heart chakra level and above that we begin to manage the whole (such as our Earth’s life support ecology) in a caring and responsible manner. Then our light becomes so bright that the higher spiritual beings respond with uplifting energies and consciousness that enable transition to a new and better way of living.

One of the features of panarchy is that cycles are nested at all scales and therefore are interconnected and interactive. The large influence the small and vice versa. We are part of the panarchy cycles of higher lives as they are of our cycles. Just as we are able to create more abundance in the lower kingdoms of our ecological world as we become enlightened, so they assist with our development in order to increase the abundance and glory of the larger divine ecology that they manage.

Some idea of the involvement of the spiritual kingdoms in our lives and ecology is given in AA Bailey’s The Reappearance of the Christ, chapter 4. The correspondence of the cycle of crisis, destruction (or tension) and emergence of the new is as follows:

“In the life of every disciple, particularly of those who face certain great expansions of consciousness, a point of crisis will come about. In that point of crisis, decisions are voluntarily or involuntarily made; having made them, the disciple then stands at a point of tension, with the decision behind him and the next step to be taken becoming clearer to his mental perception, and influencing his attitude to the future. When the work is done in the period of tension, then there comes what we might call the point of emergence. This is both an emergence from and also an emergence into a field of experience. The Christ Himself is no exception to this threefold experience...” (p.68)

“...there is nothing static in the entire evolutionary process of our planet or of the cosmos; there is naught but process and progress, a moving on, an increasing attainment and a mounting achievement. To this great law of the universe, even the Christ Himself is subject.” (p.70)

“It is to the whole world that Christ comes and not just to the Christian world. He comes to the East and to the West, and has foreseen this "time of the end," with its planetary catastrophes, phenomenal disasters, despair and invocation—arising from both the East and West. He knew that in the time of final crisis and tension, humanity itself would force His emergence.” (p.100)

The above chapter details the work of Christ¹³ and extra-planetary beings for the Age of Aquarius, and how the spiritual kingdoms are working for and with humanity to bring about upliftment of the entire livingness of Earth as an integrated being. This requires the further enlightenment of people and their eventual integration into the heart, mind and will of God. It means creating a new “ecology” of civilisation in harmony with the divine and with nature and our neighbours in the cosmos.

Our Cooperation

No matter what we do, think or feel, we interact with and influence our divine ecology. When our impact is negative, we draw to us energies and events that enhance the negativity. It is karmic cause and effect, perceived as retribution, yet is a loving chiding for wayward children. When our impact is positive, we claim joyful and inspiring energies that raise us to a kinder and more fruitful worldview. There are periods in this divine panarchy that require additional effort as our higher Beings shift to a more advanced level of life. One such shift is now due, just as we begin to face vast and deep changes to our life on Earth.¹⁴ It is now clear that we could be faced with cataclysms, devastation of food and water supplies, warfare and social breakdown if we do not learn to cooperate with each other and with the spiritual kingdoms in a far more enlightened and wise manner. Some will not be able to do this, yet if we can create even a small amount of goodness, we may be able to turn away some of the “wrath of God”, as Abraham sought for Sodom and Gomorrah.

Co-creation

Consequently, we can co-create within our divine panarchy by directing our energies:

- Above – through prayer, meditation, invocation¹⁵ and visualisation,
- With people – through self-development, tithing, good works, good relations and living to our highest ideals,
- Below – through shaping our planet’s ecology, husbandry, agriculture and climate change.

In James Redfield’s book The Secret of Shambhala he outlines a technique of manifesting, through co-creation, our best envisaged reality. The substance of Redfield’s method is as follows, with some small additions from personal experience:

1. Faith or knowing is important. We must know in our hearts that the energy of prayer, visualization and expectation is real and it affects our world now. We can expand this energy by visualization and attunement.
2. The clearer and more powerful is our attunement to our higher selves, the easier it is to connect to soul and spirit. The presence of universal love indicates success. Discrimination is needed by the beginner to avoid attunement to our own personality thoughts, desires and fears.
3. We can create more synchronicity in our lives in order to better achieve our purpose. We have to visualize or expect it, and know that it happens.
4. The energy field of our expectations (i.e. prayer field, or soul energy field, or personality field) affects others directly, as energy and as consciousness. When we are attuned to our higher selves it boosts the energy of others, and helps them connect with their higher consciousness and intuition. Groups of people in attunement amplify this energy and effect. At lower levels it can create “mob behaviour”.

5. The effectiveness of our expectations is more powerful, consistent and sustainable if we are detached from the outcomes. We need to see the positive value in all outcomes, independent of our thoughts, feelings, and all events.
6. If, when focusing on a purpose, we have negative or fearful feelings, this is a warning to seek higher guidance. Attunement to soul aim and spiritual oneness is needed.
7. The archetypal process is for us to vision and expect an ideal world of spiritual-cultural development, in order to bring it into existence.
8. When we know that what we think and expect of others influences them, and that this happens between all people, we know the value of keeping our thoughts, feelings and actions positive. The energies of different chakra levels are in constant interaction between people, and the higher levels assist in the transformation of the lower.
9. Angels exist (i.e. devas, dakinis, etc) and can amplify our energies when we acknowledge and empower them to help.

Love in Action

We reap according to what we sow, and this is love in action. Our galactic Life, and our Sun and our Earth are all part of larger divine cycles that we participate in. In line with panarchic interplay, our human cycles of influence upon the Life of Earth have their interactions with the larger Lives. All lives and all bodies are self-healing because their (our) selves are the energy and consciousness of God. All progress is in stages, and just as we discard old ideas when we make a new revelation, so old structures are discarded when we ascend to a new station in Life. The larger Lives are making an ascent now, and we must change, for the better, as an act of self-healing. Our higher energies are needed for the new Life that we will partake in. Consequently, a galactic superwave will “reap” according to our light. If our light is bright then we will participate in the impulse to further illumination and joy. Where the light is dim, the “young ones” will be cared for in a different manner. All is well, but our growing understanding of how we interact with our larger divine Beings gives us the opportunity to mindfully co-create a finer and more beautiful world with them.

The question as to whether humanity can influence the divine energies of a galactic superwave has led to a wider understanding. Through the process of invocation and evocation, at various levels as we develop, we contact the consciousness of higher levels, of divine Lives. Energies of change are evoked that transform our lower natures, helping us to unfold to a new world of livingness. This occurs throughout a higher Life cycle but has special potency when that cycle undergoes its own transformation. One such opportunity for Earth is the periodic pulsation of a galactic superwave, when we can rise together if we so choose. If we do so, the entire divine ecology benefits. Our positive invocation engages the higher energies of the superwave with wonderfully benign effects for us and for All. A new and more expansive, harmonious cycle begins. This is the divine panarchy at work.

To answer the question, yes, we can influence the effects of a galactic superwave.

Some Prophecies

Padre Pio (Italy, 1950) source: www.dreamscape.com/morgana/pandora2.htm#PIO

Padre Pio saw visions of hurricanes of fire raining down, thunderbolts and earthquakes all over Earth for 3 days and nights. It would start on a very cold night (northern winter?). People should not go out of their homes at this time, nor look out of windows. Poison gas would be in the air and there would be many deaths. Afterwards angels would descend and bring the spirit of peace. He said that people should pray and devote themselves to spiritual activities during the catastrophe in order that many souls may be saved. His source said that “those who hope in Me, and believe in My words, have nothing to fear because I will not forsake them, nor those who spread My message. No harm will come to those who are in the state of grace and who seek My Mother's protection.”

Peter Deunov (Bulgaria, 1944) link to: <http://beinsadouno.org> and <http://beinsa-douno.net>

Warning: The veracity of this report cannot be verified as it was issued after Deunov's death.

Just before his death in 1944 Deunov said that “in some decades” a divine electric fire wave from the cosmos will transform the world into “a new moral”. Those who oppose it will be carried off and transferred elsewhere. All will be affected at their different levels of development. All Earth will be shaken, collapse and disappear. The role of earthquakes is to awaken people. He said that we should turn to God to elevate our frequency. Now the solar system is entering a more spiritual region of the cosmos that will see an ascending wave of love, creating a golden age.

Fatima Prophecy (Portugal, 1917) source: Ray Stanford, Fatima Prophecy, Ballantine, NY 1987

In the town of Fatima in Portugal three children saw visions of Mother Mary and received predictions of events, including the shooting of Pope John-Paul II. In October 1917 a crowd of 50,000 to 80,000 witnessed a vision of the sun spinning and streaming energies and that approached Earth with great heat. Fearing the end of the world, the crowd prayed for redemption and the sun then retreated. Having been previously soaked with rain, the people and the ground were now dry from the heat. Later, two of the children died and one survived.

In his book, Ray Stanford's spiritual source said that this represented what could happen and that it depended on human choice. It was a reprise of a past cosmic/solar event that caused Earth to be showered with radiation and particles from the sun, causing mutation and accelerated evolution. The event was associated with Venus (ruling the Heart centre). Earth is now about to go through a great transformation as a re-manifestation of this type of event but at a higher level. Our solar system is approaching an area of cosmic rays and energies that the sun/Earth will respond to, best with human love and discernment. The energies and particles will energise the sun and planets, impacting Earth's ionosphere and atmosphere severely unless averted. People must change their consciousness in order to avoid deaths and suffering and to evolve smoothly. Otherwise the incoming dust, hydrogen and other isotopes will cause chemical reactions, noxious gasses, ozone poison, and explosions due to the extra hydrogen and oxygen combining via electrical discharges. Survivors will be helped by Masters, ETs and angels. People will have genetic changes and will begin a new root race. The three children represented the 3 thirds of humanity. One third saw but did not understand, one third saw and understood but did nothing, and the last third saw, understood and took the right action. The first two thirds were symbolised by the two children who died, as the two thirds of the world population who would probably perish. The remaining third are those survivors on Earth who can benefit from such a catastrophe. The message was that we should live lives of divine love and purity in order to survive and expand into the new life. There is hope.

Milanovich, Arcturians (USA, 1990) source: NJ Milanovich, We the Arcturians, Athena, 1990

Dr Norma Milanovich received information from beings from Arcturus and other extra-terrestrial sources. They were asked by Earth Masters to help with the birthing process to the new age of gold, in the 5th dimension. The Arcturians said that this is unlike any previous period and that it will be another 26,000 years¹⁶ before Earth has the opportunity to “ascend” to the requirements of the new age. Their mission is to protect and help in the birthing process. They are educating us to survive the 5th dimensional frequency, and to know our God-self and oneness. They channel light and ideas for our health and welfare. They say there is a good response from many humans but not enough. They work with less than 1% of people (about 60 million?). ETs are among us now as “star children” who help channel new energies to Earth. The moment for a quantum leap into the future is nearing critical mass but there is a delay in human response. They hope that it does not cause retardation for Earth. There is a conflict between the old ways and a new era of truth, love and surrender to divine spirit and oneness. People need to help themselves and their planet shift to a higher consciousness and frequency through their thoughts, words, emotions and actions. Meditation and prayer can do more good than any other single action. Earth is preparing to cleanse its negative energies, and the extreme ecological events and changes now are indications. This can be done by humans or by cataclysms, but it will happen. To survive, people must have higher frequencies. If not, then they will exit Earth and reincarnate on another planet of compatible frequency.

¹⁶ Note that 26,000 years is the period of galactic centre explosions, and that we are now overdue to receive the impact of one. It is also the period of alignment of the solar ecliptic with the galactic equator; we are now transiting this crossing, over a period of 36 years.
